

 SCALESOLO

The AI operating system for the one-person business.

Stop juggling fifteen tools. ScaleSolo turns the entire content engine — scripts, avatar videos, captions, hashtags, scheduling, posting — into a single autopilot that runs while you sleep, on your brand, in your voice.

 WRITE LESS  FILM LESS  EDIT LESS  POST MORE

Who this is for

If you're a coach, creator, founder, agency owner, real-estate agent, or any one-person business posting on TikTok, Instagram, YouTube, X, LinkedIn, Threads, Facebook, or Pinterest — and you've ever felt the squeeze of trying to create good content AND run the business AND look consistent across every platform — ScaleSolo is built for you.

The "what do I post today?" panic

Every morning you stare at a blinking cursor. The brain is empty. The algorithm keeps demanding fresh content. So you skip a day. Then a week.

The 4-hour edit grind

Record. Cut. Add captions. Color. Title. Watermark. Export. Re-export because the music is too loud. You finish at 1AM and post... one video.

The brand-voice drift

Half your captions sound like you, half like a generic AI bot. Followers can tell. Engagement drops. You go quiet again.

ScaleSolo collapses all of that into a single visual workflow you build once. After that, every new post gets generated, branded, captioned, scheduled, and published — by software trained on your brand bible, your voice, your face.

How it works in 60 seconds

1 Set up your brand once

You fill in (or paste) your brand bible — your tone, your audience, your hashtags, your colors, your handles. ScaleSolo turns that into the "constitution" every AI step has to follow.

2 Build a workflow on a visual canvas

Drag boxes onto a canvas. Wire them together. "Generate a script → render an avatar video → burn captions → add a title overlay → schedule to TikTok at the next slot." It looks like a flowchart and you can build one in five minutes.

3 Hit Run. Or just walk away.

Click Run once and the whole pipeline executes start-to-finish. Or flip on Auto-run and ScaleSolo fires the workflow every hour, every six hours, every day — generating a fresh, unique video each time. Your content fills your calendar while you do other things.

Real example

A creator sets up: Auto-run every hour → generate a unique TikTok script in her brand voice → render her HeyGen avatar reading it → ZapCap captions → title overlay auto-written from the transcript → upload to TikTok at the next open slot. She doesn't touch her laptop for a week. 168 posts published. Each one on-brand, captioned, watermarked, on schedule.

Every tool you used to pay 10 separate companies for

The pieces that used to live across ChatGPT, HeyGen, CapCut, Buffer, Canva, Descript, Later, Hootsuite, Notion, and Zapier — all in one place, all wired together, all on your brand.

Brand profiles

Manage multiple brands or clients side-by-side. Each one gets its own bible, voice, audience, hashtag set, posting schedule, color palette, and connected social accounts. Switch in one click.

Spaces — the visual workflow canvas

Drag-and-drop nodes for every step: text, brand profile, script, image, avatar render, caption, schedule. Wire them. Click Run. Save them. Duplicate them. Hand them off.

AI script generator

Tell it the angle ("a hot take on dating culture") and it writes a full short-form script in your brand voice, using your brand bible as the constitution. It dedupes against your past scripts so you never repeat yourself.

Avatar video renders

Upload a single photo of yourself (or any face you have rights to). ScaleSolo turns it into an unlimited talking head powered by HeyGen — your voice, your face, narrating any script. No more recording days.

Multi-clip "randomize" mode

Pile a folder of 20 photos in different outfits and locations. Each render auto-rotates through them and stitches the clips into one polished video so every post looks like a fresh shoot day.

Burned-in captions (ZapCap)

Pick a caption style from a 29+ template gallery — TikTok-style word-by-word, big bold karaoke, classic subtitles. Captions get transcribed and burned in automatically. No more frame-perfect manual subtitle work.

Auto title overlays + watermarks

The "Video overlays" step transcribes your audio, asks Claude for a click-worthy title using your brand bible, and burns it onto the video. Add your logo, position it any corner, dial size. Background music auto-mixes under your voice.

Title + caption + hashtags, per platform

One generation step writes a TITLE, CAPTION, and 5 hashtags tuned for each platform's vibe and character cap. TikTok gets a hook. X gets a punchy one-liner. LinkedIn gets the professional spin.

Smart auto-scheduling

Tell ScaleSolo your posting cadence ("Mon/Wed/Fri at 9AM and 2PM") once. Every new piece of content automatically reserves the next free slot — no more dragging tiles around a calendar.

One-click multi-platform publishing

Connect TikTok, Instagram, YouTube, X, LinkedIn, Threads, Facebook, and Pinterest once. Hit publish — or let the workflow do it. Every platform gets the right caption variant and the right title.

Auto-run mode (true autopilot)

Set a workflow to fire every 1 / 5 / 15 minutes, 1 / 6 / 24 hours. ScaleSolo runs it on schedule — generating fresh content, rendering, captioning, scheduling, publishing — until you tell it to stop.

Bulk media upload

Drag and drop a folder of clips you've already shot. Each becomes a row in the Schedule table. Click Generate Captions to bulk-write title + caption + hashtags + first comment for the entire batch using your brand bible.

Library + calendar view

Every piece of content — drafted, ready, scheduled, published — visible in one place. See exactly what's going to which platform tomorrow at 9AM. Edit captions inline. Reschedule with a date picker.

AI CEO assistant

An always-on agent that knows your brand, your audience, your numbers. Ask it: "What should I post about this week?" "Why did engagement drop?" "Write me a launch sequence." It answers like a CMO who's been with you from day one.

Workflow duplication

Built one killer pipeline for one client? Duplicate it across every brand profile in seconds — ScaleSolo automatically scrubs the brand-specific refs so it's plug-and-play for the next account.

Why this is a step-change, not another tool

Most "AI content tools" save you 10% of one task. ScaleSolo replaces an entire weekly process with a five-minute setup. Here's the difference, in the language of your calendar:

WHAT USED TO HAPPEN	WHAT HAPPENS NOW
Brainstorm a topic on Sunday night, panic-stuck for an hour.	The script generator picks a fresh angle from your brand bible. Zero cursor-staring.
Set up the camera, fix lighting, redo takes, fight your hair.	Your avatar reads the script. You weren't even home.
Drag clips into CapCut, manually align captions, fight a music levels meter.	ZapCap burns captions. Auto-title overlay from the transcript. Music ducks under your voice automatically.
Re-write the caption five times for TikTok / IG / LinkedIn / X.	One step writes all five variants tuned to each platform's character cap.
Open Buffer, copy-paste, schedule, hope you got the timezone right.	Schedule_post auto-reserves the next slot in your posting cadence and publishes through your linked accounts.
Total time: 3–6 hours, per video.	Total time: zero. The workflow runs while you sleep.

Consistency is the entire game. Most creators fail not because their content is bad — they fail because they can't sustain the pace. ScaleSolo removes the pace problem entirely. The work happens whether you feel like it or not.

The three promises

Save 90% of your time

The scripts, the renders, the editing, the captions, the scheduling — collapsed into a single workflow that runs hands-off. Most users get back 15–25 hours per week.

Stay 100% consistent

Auto-run keeps you posting whether you're on a flight, on vacation, or fighting a deadline. The algorithm rewards consistency. ScaleSolo manufactures it.

Stay 100% on-brand

Every script, every caption, every title is generated AGAINST your brand bible. The bot can't drift off-voice because the constitution is loaded into every prompt.

Run as many brands as you want

Agency owners, creator-economy operators, multi-niche founders — each brand is its own profile with its own bible, schedule, and connected accounts. Switch in one click.

Why we built this

ScaleSolo started inside a creator agency that was already running this exact pipeline by hand for clients. We watched the same pattern over and over: the best content came from the brands that posted every single day. The brands that disappeared every two weeks vanished from the algorithm. The single biggest predictor of growth was simply showing up.

So we built the showing-up engine. Not another writing assistant. Not another scheduling tool. The full chain — strategy → content → creative → publishing — running on autopilot. Built around YOU instead of the other way around.

Stop being the bottleneck.

Your business shouldn't pause every time you have a bad day, a slow week, a flight, a kid, a launch sprint. ScaleSolo lets you build the content machine once, then watch it run.

One-person businesses become one-person empires when their content engine stops needing them. That's what we built.

SCALESOLO.AI